

Media Coverage

Publication	Date	Edition	Link	Headline
Pressreaders.com	19 July 2022	Online	https://www.pressreader.com/india/the-hindu/20220719/textview	The five-day work week might be fading away

The Hindu 19 Jul 2022

The five-day work week might be fading away

Instead, an old idea, a four-day work week, could become a reality, shaping the future of staff engagement

Work-life balance · Social Issues · Society

+3 more Santosh Kumar Dash & Sidharth R.

Santosh Kumar Dash is an Assistant Professor at the Gulati Institute of Finance and Taxation (GIFT), Thiruvananthapuram. Sidharth R. is an M.A. student in Economics at the University of Kerala

A three-day weekend is not beyond anyone's dream, and it may soon be a reality. The idea of a four-day week against the usual 40-hour, five-day work week has been mooted for decades. The call

Growth and welfare

Politics · Narendra Modi

IPopulism might mean different things

To different people at different times in a span of four days, Prime Minister Narendra Modi questioned twice the practice of politicians making mind... 